Where do I even begin with my exceptional Adecco experience. My life has truly changed with the aid and support of multiple Adecco representatives. As a student, there is a great demand to work a full-time job during the summer months. I was struggling to find employment and had no idea how I was going to pay rent, utilities, and then tuition come September. I had applied to many different job postings and never heard back from any of them. I was almost at the point where I didn't know if I could go back to school the next year. Luckily, I found Adecco.

My first time walking into the Brockville location was a very positive experience. In addition to the representatives' kind attitude, they were uplifting, and eager to help. They stood there with open arms and were ready to take on any task. Firstly, they asked me a few questions regarding my availability, references, and then reviewed my resume. The representative had mentioned something about Procter & Gamble, so that began to get me excited. They said there was for sure opening positions at the local P&G. After doing all of the necessary steps they had to go through, I got a job! They had been in contact with the Adecco representatives at P&G who said they could get me in right away as an Assembly Line Operator.

The next step was to do my orientation at Adecco. I had a very informative orientation at Adecco, which made me feel less nervous and more comfortable starting my new job. They went over rules and regulations, and safety, so I was more than prepared for my first shift. Just when I thought I had I got one job, I was offered a second!

Throughout my journey with Adecco, I was offered a second job to work for the BARS Program. I fit the age requirement and other requirements needed to take on the job. In this job, my duties would be to go to multiple convenience store locations and ask for cigarettes. Depending on if they ID me or not, I would hand the worker a red or green card. In addition to P&G, I am so grateful that I was offered this job. These two incomes have positively impacted my life financially and mentally.

Since walking into Adecco that first day, I now have two great paying jobs, more confidence, and financial freedom. It is the greatest feeling ever knowing I am able to pay for my education and return to school for another year. Adecco was there with open arms when I needed support and help finding employment. They did everything to find me not only one job, but two. I am truly grateful.

Adecco is a great organization that has a main objective of helping citizens. They sincerely went the extra mile in helping me find employment. In addition to benefiting others' lives, Adecco representatives always have a positive attitude and kind spirits. My experience with Adecco is absolutely exceptional.
